GILCHRIST MAY REJOIN THE TIGERS

Rolla Player Tells Friend That He May Return to School Here.

WOULD STAY A SEMESTER

Athletic Committee Would Have To Pass On His Eligibility.

R. K. Gilchrist may soon be playing with the Tigers. The Rolla star half-back and former Tiger probably will enroll in the School of Engineering of the University of Missouri tomorrow. Gilchrist told A. B. Wilder, of the Tigers, Saturday night, that if he received an appointment to the Naval Academy at Annapolis, he would enter school here for the rest of the semester.

A dispatch from Rolla, dated October 17, states that Congressman A. P. Murphy, of that district, has appointed "Gilly" as a cadet.

Gilchrist's home is at Lathrop, Mo. He won his "Varsity" "M" last year as the Tiger's left halfback. He is a member of the Druids, a sophomore society.

Prof. C. W. Hetherington, director of athletics, when asked this morning if Gilchrist would be eligible for the team, said: "The matter would have to be referred to the president and the Athletic Board. I could not give an answer offhand."

Gilchrist spent Sunday with friends in Columbia. He returned to Rolla last night.

SHAKE-UP ON TRAINING TABLE

Hackney, Pixlee and Bradley Taken Off—Saunders is Back.

A general shake-up was felt among the Tigers after Saturday's game. Hackney, Pixlee and Bradley were taken off the training table, and Saunders was again given a place at the table.

At present there are only four backfield men at the training table. Of these only one is a candidate for half-back.

Twenty-five members of the Varsity squad took their regular walk yesterday afternoon on East Broadway. The roads were muddy and owing to the rain the walk was limited to eight miles. Thirteen of the men who took the walk wore low-cut shoes. Two of them wore low dancing pumps.

A few of the men are feeling the effects of Saturday's game. Johnson's knee is hurt and Pixlee will be laid up for a few days with a sprained hip.

Twenty men will be picked to make the trip to Iowa. They will stay there a week, playing Ames October 23 and the University of Iowa October 30. They will leave Columbia Thursday night.

Ames Defeated Grinnell, 24 to 0.

The Iowa State Agricultural College at Ames defeated Grinnell College Saturday by a score of 24 to 0. The Grinnell players were outweighed ten pounds to a man. Ames made its touchdowns by straight football. The Tigers will play Ames on the latter's field next Saturday.

TILLEY IS ON TRIAL

Columbia Druggist Accused of Illegal Selling of Whisky.

R. B. Tilley, a Columbia druggist, is being tried today in the circuit court on a charge of violating the local option law. He is accused of selling a pint of whisky to J. W. Stewart, a plumber employed by the University of Missouri, last May. The case was begun this morning, but after the State had submitted all its evidence it was found that the defendant had not been formally arraigned, and the case had to be begun anew. The jury was discharged, the defendant was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Twenty men have been impaneled, from which another jury will be chosen. The trial was continued at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Mr. Tilley is to be tried on four different charges.

Frank Burriss is Much Better.

The condition of Frank Burriss, who is ill with pneumonia, is much improved today. Dr. Woodson Moss said this morning: "Burriss has no fever now, and he is resting well each night. If he continues to improve, he should be out in a few days. His condition is much better than we expected." Mr. Burriss' father was in Columbia yesterday.

HE PLAYS RIGHT END ON THE MISSOURI TIGERS

STAR PITCHER IS KNOWN HERE

Adams, Who Won for Pittsburg, Played in Northwest Missouri.

Charles Adams, the young pitcher who won the world's championship for Pittsburg in the recent series with Detroit, is known personally to a number of University of Missouri students from northwest Missouri. Before going into league baseball Adams played on teams at Maryville, Bethany, Albany and Princeton. That was about four years ago. He was regarded as one of the leading pitchers of that section.

Adams broke into professional baseball by way of the Western league. He made good there, and was signed by Louisville, of the American Association, whence he was drafted by Pittsburg.

Adams is described by his friends here as tall and "rangy" in build, with exceedingly dark hair and eyes. His nickname, which has followed him into the "big" league, is "Babe." In the recent championship series Adams pitched three of the four games won by his team.

J. J. STEFFENS TALKS TO MEN

At Y. M. C. A. Meeting He Speaks on Call of Heaven.

"The Comparison Between the Call of the Wild and the Call of Heaven," was the subject of the talk delivered by J. J. Steffens, debating coach at the University of Missouri, to the Y. M. C. A. members yesterday afternoon. Mr. Steffens showed how the call of the wild appeals to the lower nature of man or of Jack London's dog. He pointed out the connection between the call of Heaven and the study of the Bible and its model characters.

Following the talk, refreshments were served and a social meeting held in the corridors of the Y. M. C. A. building.

SCHOOL OF MINES HAS 200 STUDENTS

Number Includes Record Per Cent. of College-Trained Men.

HAS NEW ATHLETIC FIELD

Director Young Is Gratified With the Outlook at Rolla.

Lewis E. Young, director of the School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla, who with Mrs. Young was in Columbia Saturday to witness the Missouri-Rolla football game on Rollins Field, told of conditions in the School of Mines this year. He said that although the enrollment is not so large as reported at this time last year, there is a larger per cent of men with a higher education than ever before.

"Our enrollment," he said, "is about 200, and of these fifty-six have done college and university work. I am much pleased with this condition, for although our men often make good progress without the college training, we get better results, as a rule, with college men."

New Athletic Field.

Mr. Young said that Rolla's new athletic field, the gift of D. C. Jackling, of Salt Lake, a member of the alumni association, is an improvement of which Rolla is especially proud just now.

"We used the new concrete bleachers for the first time in the game with Central College last Monday," he said. "The bleachers will seat a thousand people, and that's about as large a crowd as we ever have. We have a field now 325 by 500 feet."

The new wing on the ore-dressing building, to be used as an ore-dressing laboratory, will be completed, it is believed, by the middle of November. The new mining experiment station, established by appropriation of the last legislature, has begun experiments of interest to the mining industry of the state.

Likes the Experiment Idea.

"These experiments have only begun," said Mr. Young, "but they will be one of the important features of our work in the School of Mines."

"Then we have two new clubs at Rolla. One is a faculty club which meets twice a month. We meet for an informal discussion of mining subjects. G. R. Dean, professor of mathematics, has organized a mathematics club, which admits both students and faculty members. Mr. Dean has announced that 'faculty and freshmen are particularly invited.'"

Mr. and Mrs. Young were guests of Dr. and Mrs. A. Ross Hill.

HER LAMP EXPLODES

Fire in Miss Biggerstaff's Room When She Heats Curling Irons.

Miss Estelle Biggerstaff, a freshman from LaBelle, Mo., was heating her curling irons in her room at 805 Elm Street Saturday morning when the alcohol lamp exploded and set fire to her hair brushes. The fire spread rapidly to the lace curtains and penants and the varnish in the room. The heat caused the electric light bulb to explode.

Other boarders in the house heard the noise and extinguished the blaze in a few minutes.

The accident followed Miss Biggerstaff's attempt to replenish the lamp, in which the fuel had burned low. She experienced a similar accident a week ago.

OLDEST MERCHANT IN COLUMBIA DEAD

Victor Barth Succumbs to Paralysis in Hotel in St. Louis.

FUNERAL HERE TOMORROW

Started Clothing Store at Ninth and Broadway 41 Years Ago.

Victor Barth, the oldest merchant in Columbia, died of paralysis at the Hotel Beers, St. Louis, at 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The funeral will be from the home in Columbia, 1221 Broadway, at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Rabbi Leon Harrison, of St. Louis, will conduct the services. The Masons will have charge of the burial in the Jewish cemetery.

Mr. Barth began the clothing business in Columbia at the "Barth Corner," Ninth and Broadway, forty-one years ago. He came to Columbia two years before that, and sold goods from house to house on horseback until he opened a store for himself. Since 1868 he had attended to business so closely that his health began to fail a year ago, and he was forced to retire last spring.

Born in Germany.

Mr. Barth was born in Illingen, Germany, January 4, 1850. He came to America when only 15 years old. In 1876 he was married to a cousin, Miss Nettie Barth, daughter of the late Moses Barth, a merchant at Rochepore.

Mr. Barth is survived by his widow, one son, Isidore V. Barth, of St. Louis; and four brothers, Joseph V. Barth, Mexico, Mo.; Solomon Barth, Oklahoma City; Alexander, and Moses Barth, Illingen, Germany.

Mr. Barth's brother, Gus Barth, who was long associated with him in business, died in July, after a few days' illness. The two men had been close companions for years. They married sisters and lived in the same house. Paul Barth, a son of Gus Barth, made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Victor Barth after his mother's death nineteen years ago.

When Mr. Barth started in business, more than forty years ago, he had a few furnishing goods and a few suits of men's clothing in one small room. His business grew until three store rooms with two stories and a basement were required to house and display his stock.

Had Chain of Stores.

The firm name was "Joe and Vic" Barth for several years, but three years ago Victor Barth bought the interest of his brother, Joseph Barth, and conducted the business in his own name.

The Barth store here belonged to a chain of stores owned and managed by the Barth brothers and cousins. Their buyers went East annually for more than thirty years to buy the fall stocks of goods for the different stores.

Mr. Barth took an active interest in public matters and was among the first to contribute $1,000 towards the rebuilding of the University of Missouri at Columbia after the fire that destroyed the old Academic Hall in 1892.

MOORE WANTS SOCIABILITY.

A "Get-Acquainted" Hour Sundays at Y. M. C. A. Building.

"We are going to try to make the Sunday social hour permanent," said John S. Moore, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., yesterday afternoon.

"We believe it will be of great good to those who attend the lectures, as it will help them to become acquainted with one another and learn who is who. We want to make every one feel at home. We want you to stay in the lobby and get acquainted and not go to the reading room and sit down in a corner with a newspaper. You have six other days in the week to do that. Learn to make yourself sociable and you will soon see the value of it."
